Ahtsham Ahmad Gakhar

A showcase of skills and projects in Computer Systems Engineering and UI/UX Design.

About Me

Academic Background

I hold a Bachelor of Science in Computer Systems Engineering from Mirpur University of Science and Technology, specializing in Programming and Artificial Intelligence. My training has provided a solid foundation in computer systems, algorithms, and machine learning.
Passion for Innovation

I'm passionate about blending technical depth with visual creativity, creating seamless, intelligent, and interactive user experiences. My work reflects a command of software engineering and digital design aesthetics.

Leadership & Community Involvement

Beyond technical skills, I've led cross-functional teams, coordinated social and academic events, and actively participated in community-based innovation. I seek to not only advance my own skills, but to give back to the broader community.
